MariElders' First Lady

On Thursday, May 1 Lee Harmon was inducted into the Cinti. Recreation Commission, City of Cincinnati Senior Citizens Hall of Fame.

During her two years as a MariElder, Lee's creative and artistic ideas, as well as her willingness to dig in and do dirty work have endeared her to her many friends. At the Center she constantly makes new members feel welcome and gets them involved in the activities. A Tennessee native, most of her life has been in the Cinti. area. She has worked as a secretary, Adm. Assistant and Printing Assistant for various government agencies, the last being the EPA. While in government service, Lee received two awards for Outstanding Performance.

At the Center, Lee has served in various capacities such as: historian, official photographer, chairman of the Charity Fair, member of the Walkathon committee, Christmas Cookie Sale chr., and on the fund-raising committee. She has presented slide shows on her European travels, served as Potluck Supper hostess.

Outside the center, Lee has also volunteered her time as a hospital worker, taught reading as part of the each-one-teach-one program and been an active church worker.

In selecting Lee for the Hall of Fame, her friends agreed

"Lee is the best advertisement our center could have."

Congratulations, Lee R. Harmon.

John & Sherry Burik Win Sweepstakes

John and Sherry Burik of Joan Place have won the Grand Prize of the WCKY Palmolive Sweepstakes.

Sherry teaches in the primary department at Summit Country Day School. Someone there heard an announcement on the radio about their winning and Sherry could not understand for she did not know her husband had sent a card to Wirt Cain with their names. A nice surprise.

John works for the Federal Government in the General Services Administration. He had sent his card in and was called two days later to be told he had won the big prize, which is a seven day trip on the Mississippi Queen. They will fly to New Orleans to board, then have a week going up the river, stopping each day for interesting trips to historical sites and lovely ante-bellum homes.

When they return to New Orleans, they will extend their vacation for a few days to explore that fascinating city.

John Burik, their son, was also lucky. He won one of the daily prizes in the same contest which amounted to fifty dollars. For the investment of a fifteen cent stamp that is a very good return.

For the Burik's that was the week that was. Congratulations and have a wonderful time!

Mrs. Harmon

Historic Ferris House

The historic Ferris House or Mariemont-M Museum at 3915 Plainville Road, Mariemont, was the scene of the 50th anniversary party of the Mariemont Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mrs. Leonard Stringfield, Regent of the Chapter, said the celebration held there at 3:00 p.m. on May 17, was fortunate to be in the same house as the first meeting held on May 24, 1930.

In addition to the members, there were several invited guests which included Mr. Clarence Erickson, Mayor of Mariemont, and his wife; Mrs. Walter Langsam, Regent of the Cincinnati DAR Chapter; Mrs. Todd Fenwick, Regent of Clough Valley Chapter DAR; Miss Doris Penrod, Regent of Indian Hill Chapter DAR; Mrs. Ann Kitzmiller, Regent of Ohio State DAR; Mrs. Donal Blair, Vice Regent, Ohio State DAR; and Mrs. Wendell Chaney, Southwest District Director DAR. Two members of the original Mariemont Chapter, but who later resigned, were invited also — Mrs. Paul Kreider and Mrs. A. Ronsheim.

Mrs. Cleveland Sticksell, Daisy to her many friends, was especially honored as she has been a member of the Mariemont Chapter ever since its organization fifty years ago. During those fifty years, she has served twice as Regent as well as local and state chairman of the conservation committee. Ten members also received recognition as having been members of the Daughters of the American Revolution for twenty-five years or more.

The Mariemont Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution came into being as a result of a suggestion by Charles J. Livingood, one time President of the Thomas Emery Company and President of the Mariemont Company. Mr. Livingood was responsible for carrying out Mrs. Mary Emery's ideas for the building of the English village of Mariemont, the ideal community.

Mrs. Ross McElroy was chairman of the committee for the anniversary party; Mrs. Leonard Stringfield, the Regent, was in charge of the program; Mrs. Ralph Jones read the history of the Mariemont Chapter; Mrs. Harry Binder was in charge of the guest book; and Miss Gertrude Addicott, ex Regent, greeted the guests.

Members of the Mariemont Chapter DAR who live in the village are Miss Gertrude Addicott, Mrs. Earl Barnes, Mrs. Harry Cain, Mrs. Robert Fagely, Mrs. Samuel McCarthy, Mrs. Ross McElroy, Mrs. Leonard Stringfield, and Mrs. J.K. Bilingsly.

Keep the Great Oaks District operating another ten years at NO INCREASE in the tax rate we've been paying! Hundreds of Mariemont School District juniors and seniors have received excellent vocational training at the local Live Oaks Campus since 1973. Without the Great Oaks, supported by thirty-five participating school districts, Mariemont and other districts would be required by State law to independently implement and operate a minimum of twelve different occupational programs — the cost would be out-of-sight. Clearly, school districts working together are able to give us vocational education's best dollar value.

Visit the Live Oaks Campus! Tours are always welcome. See vocational education in action in thirty occupational programs (a choice of sixty-five programs in the four-campus district). Live Oaks is just beyond Milford off Route 28 ... turn right on Buckwheel Road. Phone 575-1900.

The idea of marking a highway began in Missouri about 1909 when a group of women formed a committee to locate the Old Santa Fe Trail in Missouri. This committee was influential in securing an appropriation from the state of Missouri to mark the trail with suitable boulders or monuments.

This idea further developed into plans for a highway to be designated as the National Old Trails Road, by Act of Congress, and the work of marking was carried on in conjunction with the National Old Trails Road Association.

In 1911, the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution established a national committee known as the National Old Trails Road Committee whose work was, primarily, to definitely establish the Old Trails Road as a great National Memorial Highway.

In 1912, the National Old Trails Road Association came into being and stated in its bylaws: "The object of the Association shall be to assist the Daughters of the American Revolution in marking Old Trails and to promote the construction of an Ocean-to-Ocean Highway of modern type worthy of its memorial character." The Association, under the guidance of its president Harry S. Truman, guaranteed the expense of erecting the monuments.

In 1924, the plan for the proposed monument was changed from a small cast iron marker on the Trails to a new plan which involved the erection of 12 large markers. In 1927, the proposed design—"The Madonna of the Trail," was accepted by the Daughters of the American Revolution's 36th Continental Congress.

"The Madonna of the Trail" is a pioneer woman clasping her baby with her young son clinging to her skirts. The face of the mother, strong in character, beauty and gentleness, is the face of a mother who realizes her responsibilities and trusts in God. It has feeling of solidity—a monument which will stand through the ages.

The figure of the mother is of heroic proportions—10 feet high with a weight of 5 tons. The base on which the figure stands is 6 feet high and weighs 12 tons. This base rests on a foundation which stands 2 feet above ground level which makes the monument 18 feet tall.

The figure and the base are made of algonite stone (a pourec mass), of which Missouri granite is the main aggregate, thus giving the monuments a warm, pink shade which is the color of Missouri native granite. It was expected that this stone had admirable aging qualities and, with time, would improve in color and solidity.

On the two sides of the base are found mention of historic data or local commemoration. These inscriptions are of the Revolutionary period or of early history in the respective localities.

These monuments were erected in each of the 12 states through which the National Old Trails Road passes. The monument was designed and sculpted by August Leimbach of St. Louis. The idea for the design was suggested by Mrs. John Trigg Moss, chairman of the DAR national committee.

At Bethesda, Maryland, in the week of April 19, 1929, the twelfth of the series of monuments erected by state organizations of the Daughters of the American Revolution was dedicated, to mark the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway in honor of the pioneer mothers of the covered wagon days.

This completed the memorialization of the trail of a young nation as they traveled across the Allegheny Mountains to make their homes in the great western wilderness. "The autograph of a Nation written across the face of a continent."

NEW D. A.
IN MARIE MONT

Thirty-five prospective members of the Marie Mont D. A. R. Chapter, now in the process of organization, attended the George Washington birthday tea Saturday at the Old Ferris homestead, now called the Marie Mont Museum. The building, which is over 100 years old, is furnished in the colonial manner and created a lovely atmosphere for such an occasion which was very inspiring. Mr. John Brown Jewett of Newtown, an authority on the early history of this community, spoke. He is related to the Ferris family, who at one time owned much of the land which is Marie Mont. He proved most interesting and helpful and offered to aid the new chapter in the work of locating spots of historic interest in order to mark them.

After the talk Mrs. Howard Russell Donley (Mary Louise Mullikin Donley), who has undertaken the work of organizing this chapter, announced that the next meeting of those interested will be Monday, March 3, at 3:30, at the same museum. She extended an invitation to all who are eligible to the D. A. R. and are convenient to Marie Mont to ask for application papers. Then she read the night letter received that morning from Mr. Charles J. Livingood, who sponsored the idea of a D. A. R. chapter in Marie Mont and environs.

It said: "Congratulations on your choice of headquarters on the day for your first meeting. May your chapter keep alive the ideals of all good Americans. Mrs. Livingood, long a member of the Cincinnati Chapter, offers a prize of $100, judges, three in number, to be appointed by the president of the Cincinnati Literary Club for the best essay presented this year by one of your members on Washington's trail of him, received by him at the mouth of the Little Miami, from the Federal Government. In his will he advises his executors never to part with this property, as it would be the sight of a prosperous town."—Charles J. Livingood.

Tea was served with the daintiest appointments. The flowers on the tea table were red tulips, white frezia and blue-dyed sweet peas. Mrs. S. A. Mullikin poured tea from the lovely silver service belonging to Mrs. H. B. Whaling, who was chairman of the committee in charge and who was quite the center of interest, as she wore her D. A. R. pin, sixteen bars denoting sixteen ancestors through which she is eligible to the D. A. R.

Those present were: Mrs. H. B. Whaling, Mrs. Paul V. Kreider, Mrs. Stanley Cunier, Mrs. Joseph Tobler, Mrs. J. Aran Van Winkle, Mrs. C. W. Poysell, Mrs. Ellsworth Ireland, Mrs. Edwin Bush, Mrs. Donald Arnette, Mrs. Warren Leavitt, Mrs. Jessie Lenz, Mrs. Helen Bates Jacoby and Mrs. Mylo B. Peebles of Marie Mont, Mrs. Anson Fry, Mrs. S. A. Mullikin, Miss Alma Dyer, Miss Rachel Sparling, Miss Helen Wakefield, Mrs. George Heidenreich, Mrs. Albert Ronsheim, Mrs. Tom Addison, Mrs. Kadon of Hyde Park, Mrs. Minnie S. Thomas, Mrs. A. C. Wilson, Miss Margaret Thomas and Mr. John Brown Jewett of Newtown, Mrs. Walter Hannah and Miss Alice Langdon of Mt. Lookout, Mrs. A. E. Van Winkle

Mrs. Secluan -

After writing you about D. A. R. scholarships, I remembered I had these papers on early history of Marie Mont the D. A. R. which you might find of interest to your chapter.

One is a newspaper clipping of the first tea we had to arouse interest in forming a chapter.

The second is the placard & program of the night the chapter was installed. The installation was in the Marie Mont Community Building (then brand new) followed by a dinner & toast at Marie Mont Inn.

Just keep them for the Chapter Archives.

Logally yours,
Oliver Whaling

DAR connecting with the military

USAF Majors Jeffrey Simmons and Matthew Wallace, both anesthesiologists and participants in C-STARS CCATT, presented an informational program to the Mariemont DAR (Daughters of the American Revolution) at the Barn, Women's Cultural and Art Center, on March 17.

The presentation included information regarding the Critical Care Air Transport Team crucial to saving wounded personnel in Iraq and Afghanistan through immediate air transport to Germany or the US, saving lives that might otherwise have been lost. Major Simmons and Major Wallace are a part of the joint program between the Air Force and the University Hospital Cincinnati Trauma Center designed to offer training for military medical personnel in the areas of trauma and critical care by working side by side with civilian colleagues to treat trauma and critical care patients. A simulation lab is a major part of this training. In addition to information regarding the program, Majors Simmons and Wallace also shared personal experiences from time spent in Afghanistan and insights into the terrain in the areas of Afghanistan in which our soldiers are involved.

Support of military personnel and veterans is a very important mission of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Mariemont Chapter of DAR continues to collect toiletries, lap robes, and personal care items for the local VA hospital as well as to support deployed service people.
